

D'station Racing enters Asian Le Mans Series 2019-2020

D'station Racing has confirmed to enter Asian Le Mans Series for 2019-2020 with the Aston Martin Vantage AMR GT3 starting in the end of November.

The driver line-up is Satoshi Hoshino as the team owner, Ross Gunn - factory driver from Aston Martin Racing, and Tomonobu Fujii from SuperGT. D'station Racing will compete all four races of the series teamed up with an engineer and a mechanic from Aston Martin Racing.

The target is to get an entry for 24 Hours of Le Mans, and the team is considering other WEC races.

Schedule of

Asian Le Mans Series for 2019-2020

Round 1 : 22nd to 24th November, 2019 / Shanghai, China

Round 2 : 10th to 12th January, 2020 / Bend, Australia

Round 3 : 14th to 15th February, 2020 / Sepang, Malaysia

Round 4 : 21st to 23rd February, 2020 / Buriram, Thailand

Team details

- Category : Asian Le Mans Series
- Car Number : #77
- Team Name : D'station Racing
- Car : Aston Martin Vantage AMR GT3
- Technical Support : Aston Martin Racing
- Team General Manager : Kazuhiro Sasaki
- AMR Engineer : Gustavo Sanchez
- Driver : Satoshi Hoshino (Bronze)
Tomonobu Fujii (Gold)
Ross Gunn (Silver)

PARTNER TEAM

